

A PLACE FOR PEACE

THE PEACE PAVILION

A living tribute to remembrance, compassion, and friendship between Japan and Hawai'i.

A broader vision for the visitor experience

Major improvements remain part of the long-term plan.

VISITOR CENTER

A more welcoming, informative and comfortable experience for everyone who visits Pearl Harbor.

THEATERS

Modernized spaces to help share history with future generations.

These are ambitious, long-term projects requiring substantial planning, funding and time.

A meaningful first step, starting now

The Peace Pavilion connects long-term ambition with an immediate opportunity.

A PLACE OF PEACE

A visible expression of remembrance, compassion and friendship.

A PLACE OF CARE

Shade, seating and a welcoming place to pause.

A PROJECT TO BEGIN

A more focused opportunity while larger improvements are developed.

A gift of peace. A place of welcome.

One pavilion, two enduring purposes.

01 HONOR & REMEMBER

A contemplative place inspired by Sadako Sasaki's paper cranes and the hope for a more peaceful world.

02 SHELTER & CARE

A shaded, welcoming place to sit, rest, and find relief from the sun while visiting Pearl Harbor.

From a paper crane to a universal wish

A story of remembrance that looks toward the future.

Sadako Sasaki

A young girl affected by the atomic bombing of Japan, Sadako became an enduring symbol of peace through the story of her folded paper cranes.

The pavilion translates this symbol into a shared space for reflection, compassion, and hope.

Sadako's crane replica at Pearl Harbor

A personal symbol of hope and a connection to Sadako's family.

The replica on display was donated by Yuji Sasaki, Sadako's nephew.

2026 Peace Flame Extinguishing Ceremony

An expression of remembrance, reconciliation and friendship at Pearl Harbor.

Two countries, one hope for peace.

REMEMBRANCE

Honor those affected by war, including the children of Japan.

RECONCILIATION

A Park relationship established to build a future of peace.

A SHARED FUTURE

The Peace Pavilion would carry this message forward through cranes and messages of peace.

The proposed pavilion celebrates peace and friendship; its design and recognition remain subject to approval.

Peace is also an act of care

Comfort, accessibility, and time to reflect.

A PLACE TO PAUSE

Shade • Seating • Reflection

Visitor comfort is a priority for either architectural option.

SHADE

Relief from intense sun and heat exposure.

SEATING

A place for visitors of different ages and abilities to pause.

A more humane visitor experience

Sponsorship: A lasting legacy.

An opportunity for a Japanese benefactor to make the Peace Pavilion possible.

PROJECT LEADERSHIP

Pacific Historic Parks is leading the project in coordination with Pearl Harbor and the designer/contractor.

SPONSOR RECOGNITION

A tasteful on-site plaque or sign could recognize the founding sponsor, subject to site and partner approval.

FUNDING REQUEST

Proposed full-project sponsorship

Estimated project cost:
$300,000 - $350,000

Recognition design, exact scope, funding amount, and final approvals to be confirmed.
